Vernon, June 8—It was anyhody's fight as the North Okanagan byelection campaign, one of the most strenuous in the history of the Province, wound up to-day and the voters prepared to go to the polis Thursday. Out of the confusion of reports, counter-reports and rumors emanating from the Liberal and Conservative camps only one thing appeared clear as the election thing appeared clear as the election hour approached—the result of the poll will be close. On both sides that is admitted, although both parties are confident of the result. parties are confident of the result.

A hundred votes one way or the other will be enough to decide the result. In the opinion of most party leaders. More extravagant claims are made, of course, but the real judgment of the men who ought to know best is that it will be an extremely close flexitremely close fight.

Dr. K. C. MacDonald, Liberal and W. Rennedy, Conservative, the two andidates, are both confident of success after continuous campaigning for some weeks. This confidence is shared by Non. J. D. MacLean, acting premier and Hon. S. S. Toimie, Conservative leader, but neither is making any prediction of victory.

SPORTING CANDIDATE

Liberals base their hopes on reports that many voters who supported the late A. O. Cochrane, against Dr. MacDonald in 1924, will vote Liberal in this election. They claim that large numbers of electors have signified this intention first because they admire the sporting way in which Dr. MacDonald accepted his previous defeat, and secondly because they feel that the Government will be in office for long time yet even if the Liberal andidate is rejected again.

The third factor operating to the later of the later operating the later of th favor of the Liberals, it is feet, as Hon. T. D. Pattinilo's definite announcement that he plans a full survey of Okanagan irrigation problems to secure an equitable adjustment of these matters, in which half the riding is vitally concerned. pany, with capital of $10,000,000. The incorporation details were completed here by J. E. Sears, prominent Vancouver attorney, Mr. Sears has just been appointed chief counsel to Mr. Julian in his various operations on this Coast. He returned here this week from California, where he was admitted to practice for the purpose of handling Mr. Julian's interests there.

SEES MINING BOOM ON WAY

"Mr. Julian is entering British Columbia on a big scale," Mr. Sears said,
"He believes that the scene of the next great development will be in this Province. He is launching on an extensive programme of mining development here, believing that British Columbia is on the eve of a mining boom that will equal or surpass the oil boom of recent years in Galifornia; and create as much wealth as oil has done in the South."

In 1924, Mr. Julian sold out most of his oil interests for $8,000,000. He has since been looking for new fields for investment-development. He is already operating seven mines in Artzons, California and Nevada, and in the Tulameen district of British Columbia, where more than a year ago he bought the Cascade and is carrying out big development work. Results in the mining field have been so satisfactory that Mr. Julian sees a rich future there, and has decided to enter into it in British Columbia in a more extensive way, it was explained.

A. P. Rosengols, former Soviet Charge d'Affaires at London, who was with M. Voikoff when he was shot and killed yesterday, will accompany the body to Moscow Thursday morning. They were walking up and down on a railway platform at the time, waiting for a train which M. Rosengolz was to have taken for the journey to Moscow. Notwithstanding Soviet denisals, the Polish public connected M. Voikoff, when he was sent here in 1924, with the murder of former Emperor Nicholas of Russia. When he arrived in Warsaw the Foreign Office proposed to give him special protection, but he refused and appeared offended at the proposal.

THE END OF THE CHAPTER

MR. JUSTICE MORRISON'S REPORT on the Carlow charges should be gratifying to the public at large and particularly to the Government and its officials whom it completely clears of all wrongdoing in connection with these allegations. Like the Gauthier charges, the accusation made by Carlow and sponsored by the Opposition in the Legislature was designed to reflect upon the integrity of the Government with specific reference to one of its members-in this case the Minister of Lands-with the object of discrediting that Government in the eyes of the electors. The Commissioner's report shows that there was not the slightest ground for this attack, and its exposition of the motives of Carlow in laying his charges furnishes a damning commentary on the action of the little group of hungry politicians and would-be politicians who sponsored it and were ready to stoop to any means to support it.

This report disposes of one of the most disreputable campaigns to gain political power recorded in the history of this country. It is only fair to say that some Conservative public men openly repudiated all association with it. More than that, they made little effort to conceal their disgust with the tactics which a weak leadership permitted certain elements in their ranks to employ in the party's name. For a large part these charges had been hawked around for a long time and decent Conservatives refused to soil their hands with them. There is no question that a Conservative leader with a sound appreciation of his responsibility, a proper regard for the prestige and the dignity of his party and an ordinary amount of back-bene, never would have allowed any of his followers to take into their embrace elements whose association was bound to be contaminating. Such a leader would have realized that British Columbia had important problems calling for sound, constructive thought, and would not have wasted time and money in grotesque and futile muck-raking.

The Government and its officials are entitled to congratulations upon the outcome of this investigation which ends, we hope forever, a nauseating chapter in our political life for which they were not responsible.

MANUFACTURERS VISIT US

VICTORIA TO-DAY EXTENDS HEARTY welcome to visiting members of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association who recently attended the nnual meeting of that body in Calgary. Although the visit will not be marked by any business sessions, we may assume that their trained industrial eyes will be open to much that suggests trade and commerce in

It is important to the manufacturing life of this country that such an influential body of industrialists should make a tour of the Dominion at this stage. It may be that some of the delegates who arrived in the city this afternoon are West of the Rocky Mountains for the first time. They will obtain a new conception of the Pacific Province and return to their homes with information which should make for closer industrial co-operation throughout the Dominion. A visit such as this, moreover, is an excellent thing in other ways besides that of commerce. It enables those who come to get into touch with the people and learn of their local problems. All this must make for closer unity

The Canadian Manufacturers' Association is something of a parliament representative of the manufacturing industry of the Dominion. Its deliberations are of national importance, since it is in a position to advise governments, recommend changes of policy, and generally promote the country's industrial life. Its conclusions do not always command approval; neither do the actions of governments. But the facilities at its disposal enable it to speak with authority and the industrial welfare of the country unquestionably has benefited considerably from the machinery which the C.M.A. controls.

It should be noted, incidentally, that the association has grown considerably during the last quarter of a century. Its membership in 1900 was not more than 132; it now is 4,142. Sixty years ago the manufacturing capital of the country totaled $78,-600,000; to-day it is approximately $3,583,813,-460. Industrial production since Confederation has gr.wn from $222,000,000 to approximately $2,-750,000,000. This is progress to be proud of.

TRRIGATION

THE PEOPLE OF OKANAGAN VALLEY always are ready to discuss the subject of irrigation. It is one of their most vital problems. Nature provides sun and warmth in abundance; but rain uds are rare visitors in that season of the year when moisture is most needed. Thus must artificial means be employed to carry the water to the land. It is an expensive business and the farm and ranch often must bear a fairly heavy charge for its supply.

Over $800,000 already has been advanced to th- various irrigation systems in the Vernon district since the present Government took office at the end of 1916. These loans were necessary if the fruitgrowing industry of that section was to be saved. Still further relief had to be extended and the Minis'es of Lands obtained the sanction of his colleagues to extend moratoriums to the water users, further supplementing this concession by agreeing to assume the burden of all land that might become delinquent. After a continuous survey of the situation, however, Mr Pattullo now has reached the conclusion that a new investigation of the whole situation by an independent authority, before whom all in any way con-cerned may appear, is desirable in order that no detail of the situation may be overlooked in future

This announcement by the Minister is an important one for other parts of the dry belt besides the Okanagan Valley. While it has no specific application to that arid area in the Kamloops district—which is the centre of the dry belt—a solution of many of the problems in the Okanagan may suggest new co-operative policies elsewhere, not omitting this secticn of Vancouver Island. For it is not generally understood that practically anything may be grown in the dry belt if a cheap and continuous water supply could be insured. Not very long ago that eight-mile stretch along the C.P.R. tracks on the North side of the South Thompson between Kamloops and Tranquille was nothing but a sandy desert. Then the land in question passed into the control of a group of Oriental truck gardeners. They were faced with the water problem—they knew it before they leased the land but they solved it, largely, in the first place, by employing the most primitive means of irrigation, and aft-rwards by more modern and reliable methods.

But the point to be remembered is that an adequate water supply has converted a sandy desert, eight miles long by nearly two miles wide, into one great patch of green comprising nearly all the vegetable and fruit family. Irrigation and more of it, therefore, looks like a good investment and one way of cutting down this Province's dependence upon outside sources for the supply of many commodities.

A MUNICIPAL REVENUE PRODUCER

INTEREST IN PUBLIC GOLF COURSES,

I not only as a means of providing amusement for the ever-growing army of golfers, but also as a means of implementing municipal revenue, continues to grow all over the United States and in many parts of Canada. A correspondent of one of the Montreal dailies, who apparently has made a study of the question as far as the neighboring republic is concerned, gives a few figures which illustrate what has taken place over the border. He says:

taken place over the border. He says:

Why cannot we have more public golf courses on the laiand of Montreal? There are now in the United States 148 cities which maintain municipal and public golf courses, to the number of 208. These courses are distributed through thirty-seven states and the District of Columbia, which means that there are only eleven states in the Union which do not have a public course. While it is impossible to tell just how many rounds of golf are played on these public courses, reports from 120 of the courses show a total of 5,744,104 rounds. The popularity of the public course and the tremendous improvement which it has made in the standard of play among its users has been so great that it has resulted in the holding (since 1922) of Public Links Championship tournaments under the auspices of the United States Golf Association. There is an increasing demand for more and more courses, especially those maintained by the cities. Let us get busy on this side of the line, too.

There are several municipal golf courses in Canada, of course, and although quite a few of them have been in operation for only a very short time, practically every one of them already is a civic asse that will increase in value as time goes on. Victoria has five golf courses in operation; but the day seems not far distant when this "industry" will have to be catered to locally by still another. The City might find it good business to make a few inquiries into the

SUPREMACY'S NORTHWARD PATH

From The Ottawa Citizen

"Our grandchildren may even live to see the seat of Empire transferred to Canada," said Dr. J. H. Coyne, president of the Royal Society of Canada, in his opening address on Tuesday. This prophetic statement is not new, but every time it is uttered the day draws nearer when Canada will be, if not the seat of Empire, the centre of civilization in the Western hemisphere.

The probability, is not a matter of prideful speculation but of historic basis. What is the greatest factor against an early realization of this almost certain eventuality? Simply the ancient belief in the supposedly hostile climate of the lands of the north. Disguise the fact as we may, that is Canada's greatest handleap.

This belief has persisted throughout history. But civilization has taken a steadily northward course; the peth of supremacy still points towards the "cold" lands. When the centre of civilization was in Egypt, the leaders of that time saw nothing but barbayism and inferiority in the Greece and Italy of the time. In turn the Greeks and the Romans considered the people to the North very inferior, as perhaps they were, and the climate harsh and almost unbearable. In the Middle Ages, the Moors in Spain believed Prance and Britain to be cold and foggy countries whose people would never amount to anything. The Moors were mistaken just as the Egyptians were about Greece and Italy and the Greeks and Romans about Britain, France and Central Europe.

When Prenchmen and Englishmen first thought of the North.

Canada's turn must come in the nature of things, just as the turn of Greece. Rome, France and Great Britain came. It will come just as soon as popular notions concerning the north in other countries—nine out of ten of which are wrong—give place to accurate knowledge. That knowledge can be circulated by Canadians who know the truth and who demonstrate by their economic and social and political enterprises that the Dominion is the land of the future,

CANADA AND HER BIG NEIGHBOR

and Answers

It is not necessary to remind ourselves of the Hundred Years of Peace to realize that the relations between Canada and the United States have been on the whole remarkably friendly and probabily they have never been more so than they are to-day. Many Anderson they have never been more so than they are to-day. Many hings have contributed to that fortunate situation—one not so common both improved and unimproved lands as well as dwellings and buildings thereon. The value was highest in British Columbia at $80 per acre and lowest in Saskatchewan with $25. The average wages for farm helpers during the Summer season of 1926 was $41 for men and $23 for women. By the year the averages for men, including board, was $639 and $455 for worker.

boundary freely snough to know each other, and find life on the other side very similar to life at home. Each probably thinks that his own kind of government is a degree or two better than that of his neighbors, but that is perfectly natural and inevitable, and does not make for bad feeling. And, to crown other reasons, many of us on each side of the line have friends and relations on the other.

Looking back across sixty years one finds the two countries engaged in many controversies over questions in which they were mutually interested.

Various commissions have been set up to deal with particular or general questions in which the two countries were interested. One of these was the International Joint High Commission of 1898, which met at Quebec and later at Washington. It discussed a number of questions but did not come to any definite agreement on any of them. Another was the International Waterways Commission, appointed in 1902, which investigated and reported upon a large number of matters, and made certain recommendations which among other things led to the creation of the International Joint Commission, a permaient body which has been in existence since 1911 and has been in the existence of the countries. Still another is the International Boundary Commission, created in 1892, which has has had the limportant duty of surveying and marking the international boundary between the Yukon and Alaska and between other parts of Canada and the United States. Finally the Diamond Jubilee has been fittingly marked by the appointment of a Canada and fine Minister at Washington and an

"STILL GOING STRONG"

To the Editor:—I read with some interest an article in Saturday's Times headed "Pride of Mania' Still Going Strong," and although I hold no brief for any car, this article appeals to me as a chance to open up a little friendly argument with our local motorista as to who has the oldest car still in commission.

argument with our local motorists as to who has the oldest car still in commission.

Not being of a proud and haughty disposition, I will start the ball rolling. I have in my possession a Ford touring of 1912 vintage, still going strong. To the best of my knowledge and belief it has all its original running gear including rings. For the past five years it has had no roof excepting its lowly hood, wherein to lay its head. Frost, snow, rain and shine have played havoe with the dashboard veneer, but pep—say, boy! Last year I got the idea of outting the body in half and converting old "trusty" into a semi-truck, and with said truck hauled my winter's wood from the beaches, loads of manure for the garden, gravel and cinders for the sidewalks. This year in I have discarded the whole of the original body, and am now the proud in wall out camping, haul more wood, in cinders and manure. If necessary, but I must admit I am getting into that frame of mind that if something does a sledge hammer and proceed to satisfy mayelf what cars were really made of in the good old days. She is still standing in the lot, waiting, alas, until July I, not to celebrate the jubiles, but to enable me to satisfy the powers that be with the sum of $10 to allow me to gather in my wood, etc., for the coming Winter. Can you beat it?

Mrs. George Henderson Advocates "Buy in Canada" Campaign

Wolfeville, N.S., June 8.—Delegates to the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada convened joined with those to the fourteenth annual convention of the Nova Scotia Women's Institutes in the Nova Scotia Women's Institutes in the Nova Scotia Women's Institutes in yesterday afternoon's session. The time was given over to reports from the conveners of national committees.

Mrs. George Henderson of Duncan, B.C., in her report on Canadian industries, advocated a Dominion-wide campaign through the institute to stimulate women in the purchase of goods, first from their own province, second from Canada, and third from the British Empire. A most active campaign has been started in British Columbia by Women's Institutes in co-operation with the various boards of trade. This is a new line of institute work, and Mrs. Henderson urged upon all provincial conveners to study the situation in their own provinces.

In the discussion that followed the immigration report, Ontario delegates told of the welcoming of 121 immigrant brides to their new homes. In Alberta a number of institutes' new-comers are welcomed and entertained and many ideas interchanged. In Manitobs foreign immigrants generally come to established colonies, but English is taught exclusively in the schoola-In British Columbia institutes are very-active in welcoming newcomers.

DIARRHEA (SUMMER COMPLAINT)
Summer complaint, as it is commonly called, is one of the most dreaded accompaniments of the heated term. It is caused by over-feeding, by over-clothing and by infection from poor or old milk, over-ripe fruits; tainted meat, etc. It must be kept in mind that all children need less food in hot weather than in cool. That they must be kept in mind that all children need less food in hot weather than in cool. That they must be kept ool. Even the ordinary diet of an infant, when complicated by extreme temperatures, may make him ill.

CARDINAL POINTS

In order to prevent diarrhea remember these points; keep the baby cool; boil the milk for safety; cut down on the usual amount of food given, and offer the baby plenty of water to drink. When the child has an unusual number of bowel movements stop all food. For a whole day give nothing but water or weak tea to drink. Give at least a quart of illquid and if the baby finds so much water unpalatable, use weak tea and sweeten with saccharin, not sugar. This water is necessary to replace the amount of liquid being lost because of the vomiting and diarrhea. Usually there is no need for a physic. The bowels, if left alone, and no irritating food given, will empty

A great many persons have written and speculated on the actual life of the children who appear in motion pictures; how they get their education, and what effect their positions have upon them.

Investigators have found that motion picture children lose nothing from their early work, and in most cases remain not only natural normal children, but are more thoroughly tutored and educated than those in public schools.

An excellent example is provided by the case of Billy Kent Schaeffer, the phenomenal boy actor, who first made a success in "The Home Maker," and who plays in the Universal-Jewel productions, "The Ice Flood," now playsing at the Columbia Theatre.

Equipped with a natural ability as an actor, Billy does his work with less effort than the average boy who is told to rake up the leaves.

(He receives his education as he works.

Mary West, a teacher holding a certificate from the state of California, is engaged by the Universal Pictures Corporation to instruct all children appearing in pictures made at the studio, in compitance with the law for minors. Billy, and all other children who work at Universal, go though the requisite number of hours of study each day.

They receive more teaching than the average child in public schools, for the law requires that they must be taught every day regardless of the season, as long as they are working.

With the death recently of Xavier Privas, who sang in the oldest cabaret in Paris, the Noctambules, one of the old-time. "chansonniera" passed on Georges Villard, whose death also occurred recently, was another member of the thinning ranks of the old school that apparently are not being filled by new recruits, and it looks as though the once-popular and picturesque type of singers and composers that made Paris cabarets famous, will disappear. Privas was of the sentimental school, and his popularity in his prime was great. When he first sang in the Noctambules in 1898, Veriain, who was in the audience, launched him into famu at once by jumping up and saying. "Recommence, petit, recommence." Villard also sang his own works, but they were of brighter vein than those of Privas, and he had many followers.

Enthusiastic endorsation of the building committee's action in beginning the construction of the nave of the new Christ Church Cathedral was given at a largely attended meeting of subscribers to the building fund, held last night in the Memorial Hall.

The Right Rev. C. D. Schofield, who presided as chairman of the building committee, reviewed the steps taken by the committee which culminated in the signing of the contract now being undertaken by Parfitt Brothers. Although all the money needed for the first unit had not been subscribed, the committee had decided to proceed with the building, believing that it was the desire of clizens generally that this should be done.

The Bishop declared his hope that additional subscriptions would be received during the year, in order that the erection of the new building could be continued without interruption or delay, until the nave at least was completed.

Golfers Getting In Hard Practice For Major Championships

Sharpening up Game For P.N.W. Title Events Which Start Next Week

Alec Marling, Colwood Pro, Shoots 75 From Back Tees on His Home Course

Local golfers are making the best use of their time between now and the opening of the Pacific Northwest golf ips next week by getting in extra hours of practice at both the Col-wood and Victoria golf courses, over which the events will be staged.

which the events will be staged.

Although the three major events, the men's open and amateur and the women's, will be staged at the Colwood Golf Club it is expected that the Oak Bay course will be pretty well jammed during tournament week owing to the fact that the 'Class 'B' 'championship will be staged there. The handicap for the amateur championship is nine and there are not a great many local players who can get under that figure, but there are a flock of good players who are just over that mark who will be out in quest of the title. This honor was won two years ago by Ed McQuade, present Colwood champion, at the Tacoma Golf Club.

Colwood is drawing many players at the present time and everything is in first-class shape for the test. The open championship will start on Thursday. June 17, and conclude the following day, the lowest score for the seventy-two holes taking the title.

The greens are large and not exercily trapped, but one is not always flown in two after arriving there. Will Not Turn Pro

San Francisco, June 8—"Little Bill" Johnston, California ace tennis player, emphatically denied here yesterday that he has any intention of leaving the ranks of the amateurs to turn professional, as was predicted in New York yesterday by C. C. Pyle, backer of professional tennis and football.

When Johnston read the dispatch from New York in which Pyle prophesied that both he and "Big Bill" Tilden would turn pro before the end of the year, he merely laughed and characterised the promoter as "popping oft."

"So far as I am concerned I haven't any intention of quitting the ranks of amateur tennis," Johnson said.

New York, June 8.—Battle flags of the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Yan-kees still are flying at the top of the major leagues, despite the efforts of fourteen other clubs to lower them.

fourteen other clubs to lower them.

All the home run power in the bats of Buth and Gehrig was needed by the Yankees yesterday to repulse the charging White Sox, but the league leaders managed to turn back their rivals by a count of 4 to 1.

Yankee hits off the pitching of Alphonse Thomas numbered only six, one least than the White Sox gathered in from Waite Hoyt, but the Yankee hits were long ones that counted runs. Ruth made his eighteenth homer, Gehrig his fourteenth and Pat Collins added another, while Clancy of the White Sox, cracked out one for the visitors' only tally.

STILL KILLING GIANTS

Opening their series against the Giants, the National League leaders were as successful as the Yanks. Despite two New York homes the Pirates kept up the giant-killing strept they started at the Polo grounds list month by getting sixteen hits off the notoriously poor New York pitching and winning 6-6.

Chicago's seven-to-six victory over Brooklyn meanwhile sent the Cubs to third place above the Giants and only a few points below the Cardinals. Brooklyn scored five runs in the fifth but could not hold the lead.

Benching of Harry Heilmann, thrice bathing champion of the American League, allowed Dame Rumor to get on the rampage with Heilmann as the subject of the latest gossip. Heilmann's hitting has been worfully weak, and the rumors floating out of Detroit say that he is about to be weaned away from the Detroit club. There are several clubs in the junior major league who could use Heilmann and it is generally known that bidding for his services would be brisk were he to be placed on the trading block.

Famous Golfer Tells of Road Hole, Which Makes Players Use Strategy

Last week in discussing the great difficulties for an American bred player of British seaside golf, and likewise in extolling the charm of playing overseas, I had constantly before my mind the old course at St. Andrews. In my humble opinion it is the most fascinating golf course I have ever played; and if Pine Valley is, as Chubby Hooman so delightfully expressed it an exuate course.

I first played St. Andrews in 1921 when the British Open Championship was contested there, and like so many American players, I was unable to understand the reverence with which the place was regarded by the British. I considered St. Andrews among the very worst courses I had ever seen, and I am afraid I was even disrespectful of its dyficulty. The maddening-part of the whole thing was that, while I was certain the course was easy, I simply could not make a good score. Self-complacently I excused myself by thinking the course was unfair, that the little mounds and undulations should not be there, and because my shots were deflected continuisly away from the hole, I regarded myself as very unlucky.

NOT TO BE TAKEN LIGHTLY

because my shots were deflected continually away from the hole, I regarded myself as very uniqueky.

NOT TO BE TAKEN LIGHTLY
Yet I did begin to think a little when a course so unpreposessing forced me to take forty-six to the turn in the third round of the tournament, and finally goaded me into the disgraceful act of picking up my ball after taking a pair of sixes at the tenth and eleventh holes. I must, however, give myself the credit to say that ever then I was beginning to know St. Andrews, at least to realize that the old course was not to be taken lightly. In the interim between 1921 and my next visit to Britain in 1926 I heard such a great deal of St. Andrews from Tommy Armour and other Scotsmen who seemed to be convinced that Divine Providence had had a part in the construction of the course, that I went there determined to make an effort to like it. I really did not have to try very hard. Before I had played two rounds I loved it and I love it now. To account for the fascination of the place to one who has not seen it is a very difficult matter, but some little discussion of a few of the holes may show in a measure why I have said it is the finest course I have ever played.

The horses pressed their soft muzzles against the green-streaked boards, which the water barely covered. Bode's poured five more bucketsful before they were able to drink in comfort. He doubled this quantity, and stood back while the animals took their leisurely draught.

When their thirst was satisfied, they followed him to the milk-house, and waited while he found a pitchfork, with which he tossed a sizeable stack of hay to the ground outside the door. Leaving them to eat, unhaltered, he returned to the well, filled his own bucket and carried it into the house. He laid a fire in the cook stove and lighted it. After this he washed his hands and face in cold water, using a basin that he dragged from under the table.

Nickel Smelter Report Unconfirmed

New York, June 9.—The regular quarterly dividend of fifty cents on Common stock, payable on June 16 to shareholders of record, June 3 has been declared by the International Nickel Company.

Sudbury, Ont., June 8 (By Canadian Press)—Nothing is known here of the report published in Toronto to-day that the International Nickel Company would scrap their smelter here and erect a new one at a cost of $20,000,000 in which to develop an entirely new process of smelting.

President Stanley announced in New York recently that, owing to the high copper content of Prood ores, the company would install an electrolytic refining process when developments reached the production stage, but nothing has been heard of the erection of a new smelter.

INQUIRE INTO COAL

Provinces of Ontario and Alberta Represented at mquiry in Ottawa

Ottawa, June 8.—The inquiry to find the cost to the railways of transporting coal from the mines of Alberta to the consumers in Ontario opened before the Board of Railway Commissioners here yesterday. The order of parliament for the inquiry dates back to February 13, 1928, but the board was engaged much of the interviewing time on the general freight rates case and the coal inquiry has accordingly been delayed. When a motion to go ahead with the latter came up early this Spring, the railway companies said they would not be able to furnish the figures which the board would require until June 7, so the injuiry was put over until yesterday.

The provinces of Ontario and Alberta, the railways and the city of London, Ontario, were represented before the commission by coulsel and experts.

Commissioner McKeown, McLean and ssioner McKeown, McLean and

In summing up his direct testimony the witness and that the board could not, in his opinion, hope to determine the exact cost of moving western coal to Ontario but could only attempt to determine as colsely as possible the out-of-pocket cost of shipments to the railways. He explained that the out-of-pocket cost meant the actual cost which would result over and above what the railways would have to pay for maintenance of their lines whether or not they carried western coal to Central Canada. He held that while his figures were not exact they represented as margin more than sufficient to meet the cost indicated. The higher figure in the witness's estimate was reached, he said, by allowing the same expense for moving empty cars West as for moving empty cars West as for moving cars East, while, he maintained, no justification for such a basis of cost could be made.

commissioner McKeown, McLean and Cliver heard the evidence. At the outset of the hearing commissioner McKeown said that the commission had before it previous evidence taken in May which showed considerable divergence in the estimates for moving Alberta coal to Ontario, when estimates furnished by the provinces and by the railways were compared. The comparative figures given for freight car repairs represented most of this difference.

George Kilmer, K.C., for Ontario, said that the difference might be due to the fact that different years had been used as the basis for arriving at the figures in the previous evidence.

George W. Oliver, Chicago railway cost accountant, who prepared a report for the Ontario Government on the "out of pooket" cost of transporting coal from producing points in Western Canada to consuming points in Western Canada to consuming points in Western Canada to consuming points in Ontario over the Canadian National Railways.

The great difference, he alleged, arose in the amount allowed for maintenance of equipment. He explained that the C.N.R. estimate of out-of-pocket cost of fresh the canadian National Railways.

The great difference, he alleged, arose in the amount allowed for maintenance of equipment. He explained that the C.N.R. estimate of out-of-pocket cost allowed twenty per cent for freight operating expenses and that twenty per cent of these operating oosts were attributed to maintenance of equipment. As a matter of fact, he said, freight car repairs over the whole C.N.R. system during 1925 only amounted to 10.6 per cent of the total freight operating expenses and he argued that it could not be shown that the higher amount-twenty per cent—could be justified as attributed to the operation of cars carrying coal.

In summing up his direct testimony the witness said that the board could witness said that the boar

Government Vessel Sails From Vancouver For Queen Charlotte Sound Rookery

Seattle Shipping

Seattle Shipping

Seattle June 8.—Chartering of the motorship Estrella and steamship Cragness by the American Trading from Vancouver, under command of Captain A. M. Henderson of the Dominion fishery patrol service, for Pearl and Virgin Bocks in Queen Charlotte Sound, where the sea lion rookeries are located.

The ship is manned with her usual crew, machine guns and sharpshooters, and will be two weeks on the hunt. It is estimated that she will be able to report a casualty list of nearly 2,000.

Result of this year's trip is awaited with special interest as it will give some indication whether the expeditions are reducing the sea lion herds to any extent. There was a reduced bag last year, and if the kill is still smaller this season, it will show that the expeditions are having a good effect in bringing down the herd.

The ship has made the trip each year since 1922. One year she reported 3,000 animals killed.

We Invite You to Get to Know the Theory of

There is nothing mysterious about I-ON-A-CO. It is simply a magnetic device which can be understood by any electrician, or for that matter by any high school student who has studied elementary physics. The application of I-ON-A-CO to the treatment of disease is based upon the discovery of Dr. Otto War-burg, who demonstrated that it is the iron in our chemical make-up which unites the oxygen, which we breathe, with the cell tissues. The magnetic effect of the I-ON-A-CO belt is to oxidize any diseased cells in the system and they are thereby quickly eliminated.

essie Mackenzie and Miss Neilie Jones, both long ex-ed in matters pertaining to the physical welfare of ity, are in attendance in our Government Street Offices, we charge of the demonstration department, where you at assured of the most skilful and careful attention.

COLLECTION OF TAXES

"Collection of current general taxes in 1926 amounted to 88.1 per cent. of the levy, compared with 86.2 per cent. the previous year. Collections of arrears in 1926 amounted to $290.951 against $259.838 in 1925.

"For the months ending May 31, 1927: Current general taxes collected amounted to $323.688, compared with 8502.993 for the same period in 1926. Collections of arrears (excluding local improvement) for the first five months of 1927 were $68.816 against $57.999 for the same period in 1926. This increase is even more striking when one considers that the arrears outstanding at January 1, 1927, were much less than at the beginning of 1926, viz., $776.843 against $929.841. Corporation in Order in Regu-lations Governing Explosives

Reversing the decision of Judge Grant in the County Court of Vancouver in the case of Rex vs. Gerrard, the Court of Appeal yesterday ruled that the by-law of the corporation of Point Grey regarding the handling of explosives was not ultra vires as the County Court Judged had ruled. F. J. Bayfield argued for the corporation in the morning and C. Killiam replying submitted that the by-law was inconsistent with the Dominion Act. The judge had ruled it ultra vires because of the wording of a certain clause regarding unguarded explosives.
